

500 Rounds

Single Stage
5.0 Hours

Turret
2.5 Hours

Progressive
0.6 Hours

- There are many variables in loading that can affect pieces per hour however this provides a good enough comparison to help you decide which type of press better fits your shooting needs & Budget.
- Single Stage & Turret presses are better suited for rifle rounds with a progressive press being a beast of a handgun cartridge making machine. You can certainly build handgun ammo on all three types albeit much slower on the first two.